Lord & Taylor,

DECISION FOR MOLINEUX

JUDGE BLANCHARD ALLOWS MR. WEEKS TO EXAMINE GRAND JURY MINUTES.

The application made by Bartow S. Weeks and George Gordon Battle, counsel for Roland B. Molineux, accused of the murder of Mrs. Kate J. Adams, for permission to see the minutes of the Grand Jury, was granted yesterday by Judge Blanchard in Part I of General Sessions.

Judge Blanchard says in his decision that the fact that the defendant was indicted without hav-ing had a preliminary examination before a Magistrate furnishes a strong inducement to the Court to look upon the application with favor. Continuing, the Judge says:

For the most part, criminal proceedings are begun by the issue of a warrant, whereupon there follows an examination before a Magistrate. Then the defendant may face the witnesses, may cross-examine them, and may give evidence on his own part, all before he can be held for the action of the Grand Jury where a prosecution is begun in the Grand Jury room, these privileges are withheld from the defendant, and he must proceed or stand trial, apprised only by the accusation of the indictment and by the names of the witnesses indorsed upon it. A defendant who seeks inspection of the Grand Jury minutes on the sole plea that he had been deprived of a preliminary examination should have the ear of the Court.

It is contended by the District-Attorney that neux's counsel went with a copy to see District-Attorney Gardiner. They wanted to know if the ninutes of the Grand Jury could be obtained imnediately. They were told by Major Gardiner that he would take his time in entering the order for the inspection of the minutes. He added that nothing was said about the exhibits in the case in the Judge's decision. Later Assistant District-At-terney McClelland appeared before Judge Blanchard and told him that the District-Attorney had said that he would not enter the order in less than twenty-four hours. Judge Blanchard then directed at the order be entered at 2:15 o'clock yesterday be open to the inspection of the determines consist.

In the afternoon District-Attorney Gardiner went before Judge Blanchard and said that he had not yet received the minutes of the Grand Jury, but as soon as he did he would give a copy to Mr. Weeks. The order was then entered on record.

Mr. Weeks said that as soon as he had been given the minutes of the Grand Jury he would prepare a motion to be made to Judge Blanchard for the quashing of the indictment on the ground that it was found on unlawful, irrelevant and incompetent evidence. The motion would probably be made, he added, at the end of the week.

THE RIGHTS OF INDICTED MEN.

the case of Roland B. Molineux. It does not seem Aside from that, Mr. Molineux is certainly entitled to a speedy trial, and it looks now as if neither he nor the twenty or thirty others indicted for capital offences would have a chance to clear themselves and I do not think that A. Bird Gardiner should be allowed to run amuck in the way he has been doing in violation of such rights and the rights of the general public, without a vehement protest being made.

I take Molineux for a text, because here is a case where a man is taken into custedly on indirect evidence and has no chance to prove his innocence for perhaps six months or more. There are probably other cases just as bad, if not as prominent. CHARLES EDWARDS WOODBRIDGE, New-York, March 15, 1899.

Shayne attempted to risc out stumbled over the less of his chair and fefired a bullet into his back. Shayne fell under the table, and Hammond, pulling up the tablecloth, deliberately fired two more bullets into the helps man. He then walked out into the office of the notel, where he stood, waiting the arrival of an He was placed under arrest and taken to Shayne, who is a widower, had been in company Shayne, who is a widower, had been in company with Mrs. Hammond a great deal since her divorce from Hammond, and there was talk of an approaching marriage between them. To-night, when it was thought that Shayne's death was a certainty, it was proposed that he should be married to Mrs. Hammond before his death. Later, however, the physicians declared that Shayne had a faint chance for his life, and the proposed wedding was postponed.

Mrs. Hammond secured a divorce from Hammond nearly a year ago, on the ground of hisbitual drunkenness. No cause for the shooting is known, unless it can be attributed to Hammond's jealousy of his divorced wife. All three builets struck Shayne in the back.
